Teens' Social Media Usage Is Drastically Increasing

Mobile Video Consumption and EAL Learners

Mobile video consumption has drastically increased in the past decade. Children are very comfortable with this medium so why shouldn't educators put this format to good use? Having material that is accessible on demand anytime, anywhere is not only functional but also attractive as a learning medium especially for students who are learning English. Videos have become a vital component of today's and tomorrow's classrooms. Some of the most popular and successful YouTube channels are created by English language teachers including "mmmEnglish"," English like a Native", "Go Natural English" and "Eat Sleep Dream English".

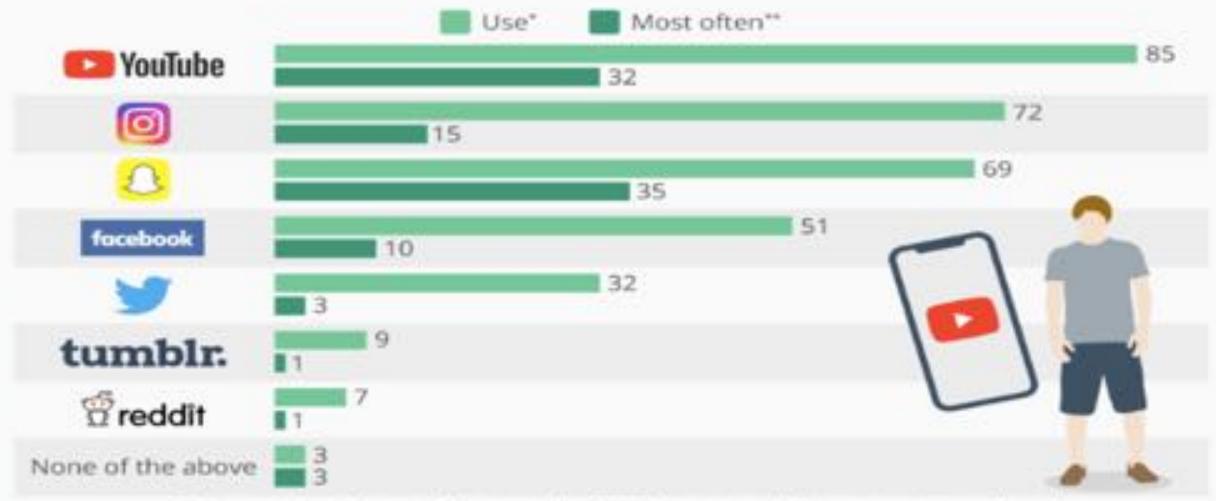

Mobile Video Consumption and EAL Learners

- Social media is the fastest growing learning tool for EAL students.
- YouTube recently announced it is investing $20 million in educational videos (Business Insider 17/2/19).
- Appealing to, and engaging, my dynamic and edgy Middle Years EAL cohort has become easier using YouTube videos - a generation who use YouTube and other forms of social media on a daily basis.

YouTube is the Preferred Platform of Today's Teens

- Teenagers are more interested than ever in YouTube, home to the world's growing influencer and vlogger base. According to a recent_study conducted by Pew Research Center, 85 percent of teenagers (ages 13-17) say they use the platform. Closely behind are Instagram (72 percent) and Snapchat (69 percent).
- More teenagers have access to smartphones than ever before. According to Pew, 95 percent of teens own or can access a smartphone, as opposed to 73 percent in 2015.

Here are some of the Ways I had been Using YouTube Videos in my Classroom:

- As a hook into a lesson on a specific topic
- For enhancing students' understanding of specific grammar and language points
- For pronunciation practice
- For listening comprehension
- For raising cultural awareness
- Building students' vocabulary and spelling skills
- For supporting students' understanding of topics covered in mainstream classes

What's missing? Problems.

- Targeted primarily towards adult learners
- Mostly oral confidence focussed
- Not helpful for my students
- Not usually Australian (other than Emma)
- It's a minefield students don't know where to start

How did I get started?

Step 1: Student Survey

- THE EAL REALM
- ENGLISH WITH ZEAL
- ZEALOUS ENGLISH
- UNREAL ENGLISH
- MISS LIPPOLD'S EAL CLASSROOM
- MISS LIPPOLD'S ENGLISH CLASSROOM

Realm = n. an area of activity, interest, or knowledge; a country ruled by a king or queen

Zeal = n. great energy or enthusiasm connected with something that you feel strongly about

Zealous = adj. showing great energy and enthusiasm for something, especially because you feel strongly about it

Unreal =adj. slang for great/cool/awesome; used to say that you like something very much or that something surprises you

Further Steps

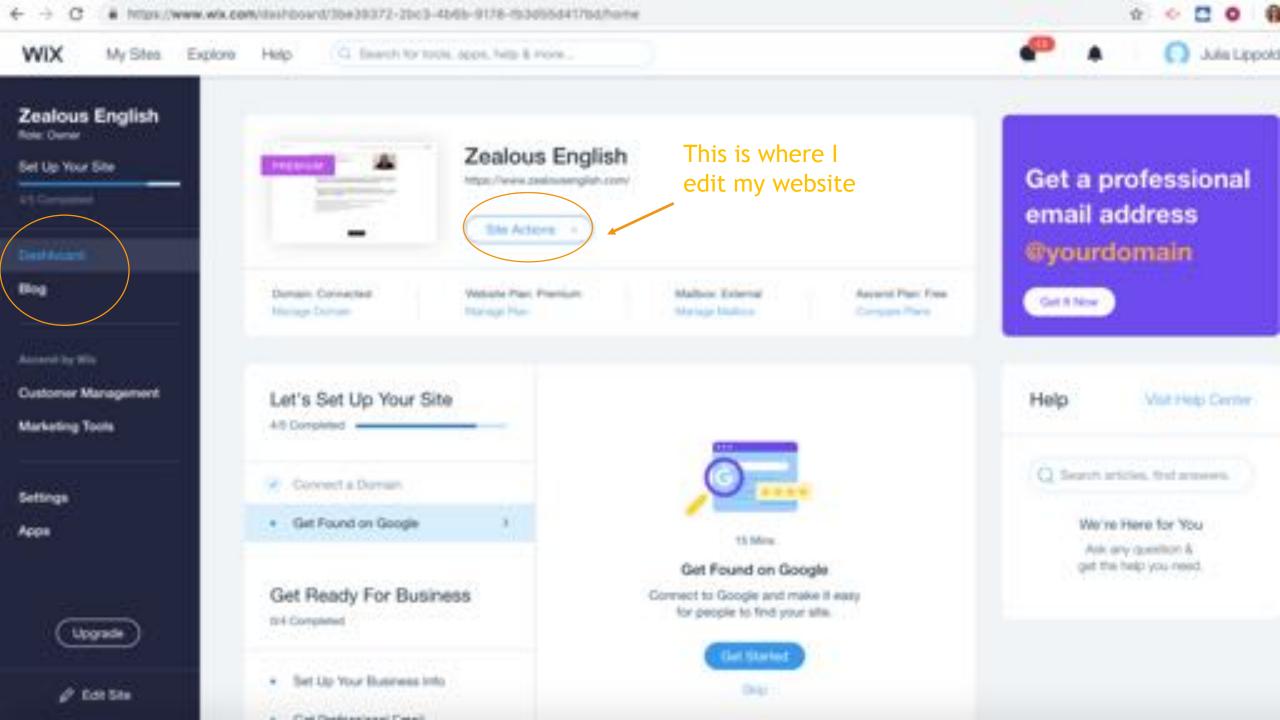

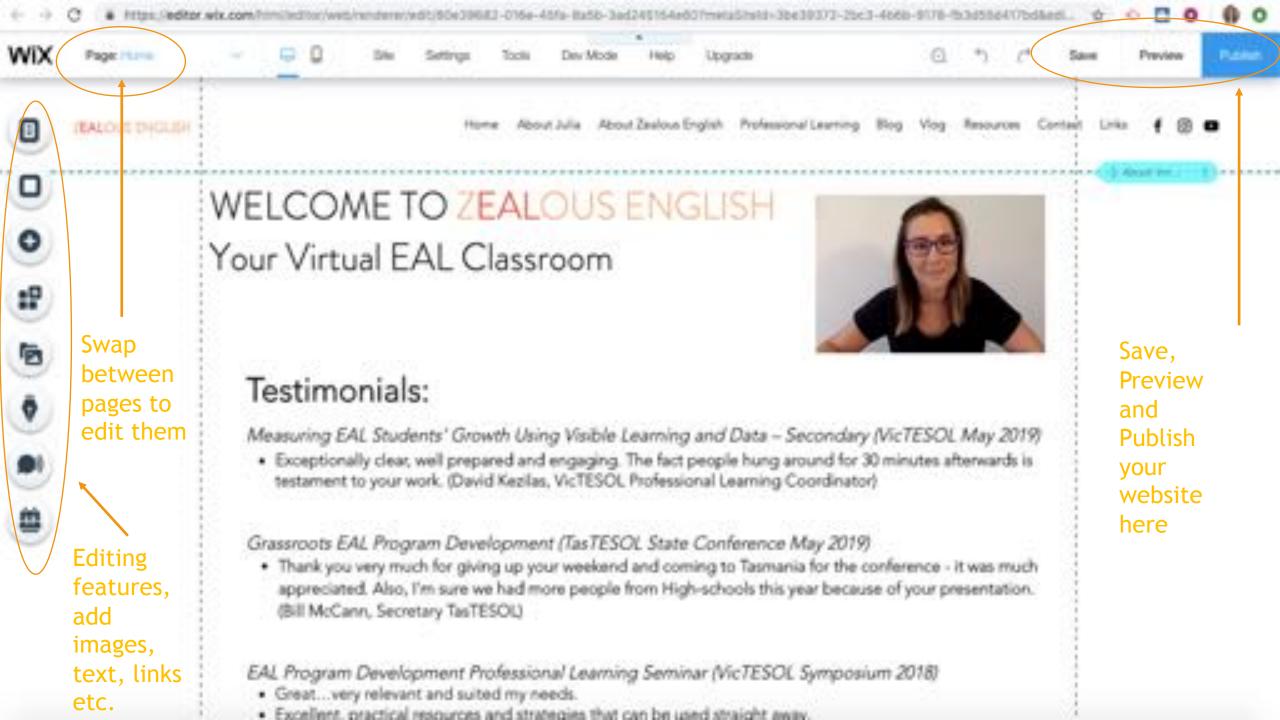

- 1. Make a logo (I asked a colleague)
- 2. Register business name with the Australian business name registry https://asic.gov.au/for-business/registering-a-business-name/
- 3. Create an ABN (I had already done this so I just connected my business name to my ABN)
- 4. Started to build my website
- 5. Started a Facebook Page, Instagram Page and YouTube Channel to reserve my business name and promote my website before it went live
- 6. Use a Google (G Suite) account for email (better option than using your webhost email service)
- 7. Launch your website after your have started your Facebook page, Instagram page helps to build the anticipation
- 8. Have a few videos and blogs to go (I started with two)

Building a Website

- Choose your domain host (I use GoDaddy) you have to pay to "own" your domain name e.g. www.zealousenglish.com
- Choose your website builder (I used Wix which is free create a Wix account)
- Watch videos on the Wix website on how to build your website
- Design a logo (I used a friend but you can do this with Wix)
- Write your copy in Word then add/paste to your website later
- Think about what information you want to include on your website what colours do you want to use, number of pages etc.

The Glamorous World of Vlogging

How to Make a Vlog and Upload to YouTube

- 1. You will have created your own YouTube channel already
- 2. Write a script and practice first (at least have key points)
- 3. Choose a quiet and well lit space (I usually use my office) to record your video
- 4. Use laptop, camera or phone to record your video (may like to use a stand as support)
- 5. Edit video using editing software (I use iMovie) I also watched a lot of videos on how to do this
- 6. Overlay images using Canva (I pay for a subscription so that I can use images with transparent backgrounds)
- 7. Upload the video to your channel and promote it on your social media

How to Write a Blog

- Think of your topic and target audience
- Try to link vlogs and blogs if possible (if that's what you want to do).
- Make sure it's brief and not too long
- Edit and proofread carefully (I need to get better at this!)
- Use the blog feature of your website to add the blog post to your website and promote your new blog on social media and via a private email to your subscribers
- I find blogging more challenging so I have been focussing my attention on making videos

Monitoring your Subscribers and Posts - Social Media and EAL

- 27% of teenagers interact with social media hourly and 16% constantly!
- Use Facebook Pages and Instagram features to see "Insights" on the traffic your posts attract, this helps your to think of more posts that will appeal to your followers. This has to be done on your phone for Instagram.
- What hashtags did you use? Which ones attract more traffic?
- Don't just go by the number of likes you get! especially since Instagram recently changed the "like" feature
- Survey your subscribers.
- Facebook vs. Instagram
- Hashtag vs. location vs. home
